Rural Area Development Program

High Drop-Out Rate, Educational Needs Studied By RAD Committee

This is the second series of articles concerning Appomattox County and its Rural Areas Development Program.

"Tis education forms the common mind:

Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined." Pope expressed a universal truth in these lines. Common sense indicates that the Key to economic and social advancement is education. With that idea in mind, the Rural Areas Development Committee would like for all of you to review the education picture in our county and decide what phases of training need more emphasis.

If you will look at the figures briefly, you will learn these facts: There are 9 elementary and two high schools in our county, three Agricultural and Industrial Arts shops, one bus shop and two canneries. Last session there was an enrollment of 2,154 pupils in these schools, the property of which has a valuation of $1,732,335. The cost for education per pupil last year amounted to $267.35, part of which came from state funds. Of the white graduates, only 24.3 per cent continued their training in college, two per cent attended a trade school or entered the nursing profession, and six per cent attended a business school. These figures point out that about one-third of the pupils from Appomattox schools are in a continuation program of any kind. How are we providing for those who are not in such a program? An even more startling fact is that the drop - out rate in our county is about 50 per cent.

With the above - mentioned information in mind, please make suggestions to the RAD committee, concerning our educational needs as you see them.

The RAD Committee Meets the 1st Tuesday, monthly at 8 p.m. We invite your suggestions.

Acreage Survey To Be Made

Postmaster H. W. Conner announced today that several farmer - patrons on rural and star routes will receive 1962 Acreage Survey cards from their carriers sometime during the week of September 17.

Your Post Office assists the Department of Agriculture each year in making this and two other surveys.

Acreage cards returned by farmers to their carriers will be mailed direct to the Virginia Crop Reporting Service in Richmond. Information from each card, if properly reported, will then be tabulated and combined with other reports to give indications of changes in acreages of crops harvested. Using these facts estimates for the Old Dominion's principal crops will be made. Other surveys provide the Crop Reporting Service with information on yields. From these estimates the outcome and probable size of each of the 1962 crops will be determined.

So, if next week you find in your mail box a white card having ten closely punched holes along the top, don't put it aside. Postmaster Conner urges that you fill out the card and return it to your carrier. This is important since only a given number of farmers will receive these cards and your community will be represented according to the number of cards returned.

Incidentally the ten holes at the top of the card are used to set the cards up for speedy totaling in the office of the Virginia Crop Reporting Service.

Carriers helping with this survey are. Wr. E. Hancock, Route 1; W. C. Hubbard, Route 2; R. W. Stanley, Route 3; and S. A. Lawson, Route 4.

School Bells Call Students Back To Class

School bells rang on Tuesday, September 6, calling more than 2,000 children of the county back to classrooms and books. More than 200 of these entered school for the first time, some happily, and some a little uncertain at the prospect of leaving home and toys for the school house, pencils, and books.

Superintendent Earl Smith began his first term as head supervisor, succeeding J. A. Burke of Appomattox, who retired in May after 36 years at that post.

Among the new teachers are three elementary principals, Julius Clements, of Oakville School (Clyde Caldwell), of Vera, and Mrs. Pauline Thomas, of Spout Spring. Each one will also be in charge of the sixth and seventh grades of the school. Other newcomers include Mrs. Margaret Glover, Evergreen, teaching first second, and third grades; Mrs. Alice Hobbs, Appomattox, seventh grade, Richard Carter, AHS Agriculture teacher; Mrs. Louise Wells, high school English and social studies, and Mrs. A. R. Harwood, Jr., who returns as county librarian.

TV Teaching

Television teaching will be introduced to this county with science courses for both seventh and eighth grades. James Earl, the TV instructor, outlined his program to the teachers during their pre - school conference Friday, August 31. Lynchburg's Channel 13, will offer the program three times a week at 9:30 a.m.

Form filled out and returned to the teacher means Curtis Mayberry, Jr., is all ready for his first year of school. His first grade teacher is Mrs. Lucie Staples. Curtis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mayberry.
